THE steamer Acochie, which went on the rocks at Hainan Straits eight days ago and was subsequently beached, arrived in the Harbour last night. The Avochie was on a voyage from Hongay when, in the foggy weather, she sailed over a reef of rock, and austained such damage that it was considered advisable to run her on the beach. Foor frames and a number of plates were stove in, and the fore main hold immediately filled with water. It is a fortunate thing that the damage did not extend three feet further aft, for in that event the water would have filled the stoke-hole, and even if it had been possible to beach the vessel it is q estionable if she would have been got off so speedily, if at all. The salvage of the steamer was entrusted to the Hongkong and Whampos Dock Company, who despatched Mr D. McDonald, one of their engineers, to the scene of the accident. Having applied a patch of hair-felt, shored down with wood and comented over, the Apochle was floated successfully, a smart as well as a prompt piece of work. The water was then pumped out, and the vessel kept dry all the way to port notwithstand-Vienna, has sold his great collection of ing that she encountered a strong head wind and a heavy sea. She will go into dock for complete repair on Monday. Although the damage | rush in the straight right from the ruck. turned out to be comparatively trifling there was great danger at first of a big fire, and the fact that it was kept within such narrow limits was due to the promptitude with which Police Constable Fyfe brought a barrow hore from No. 7 Police Station to play on the flames, There were ten people in the house when the fire broke out, all of whom were able to escape and save a good deal of their personal effects. The property is insured for $3000 in an office for which Messia Schelibass and Co. are agents.

A New Death Test .- Some particulars of Mr Potts' Susewind, 12 4 .... Capt. Glubb 0 a remarkable case of revival from apparent death have come to hand from St. Petersburg. A lady, who had been suffering Capt. Reynolds' Petit Caporal (late Golfrom a violent nervous attack, san, into a state of syncope, and after a time ceased, as it seemed, to breathe. The doctor who was attending her certified that death had resulted from paralysis of the heart. For some reason, which is not explained, another medical man, Dr Loukhmanow, saw the body, and, having been informed that the lady had suffered from attacks of hysteria and catalepsy, thought it worth while to make a thorough examination. After trying various other means, he applied the microphone to the region of the heart, and was enabled by this instrument to hear a faint beating, which proved that life was not extinct. Everything was done to resuscitate the patient, who shortly afterwards recovered consciousnoss.

THE now star in Auriga continues to excite the liveliest interest at home. What imparts importance to this star, says a home paper, as it did to the marvellous ones which appeared in Corons in 1866, in Cygnus in 1676, and in the great nebula of Andromeda still more recently—is that i is of large (fifth) magnitude, and is daily increasing in brilliancy. An even more remarkable astronomical wonder is the great sun-spot or series of sun-spots thomen turning out in andress uniforn (very visible for the last few days. In many respects the largest of these is the greatest of which there is any record. In 1779 Sir Indians and Wild West men. Before the William Herschel observed one, the diametor of which execuded 50; 00 miles. But we have the authority of the Astronomer-Royal for saying that a study of the photographs of the present one shows that it is about 100,000 miles long and 60,000 broad, the whole group covering an area on the sun's disk of about 150,000 miles. It is elso certain that the extraordinary display of northern lights and the almost unexampled intensity of the carth a magnetism noticed at Berlin, Kew, and elsewhere over the porthern hemisphere are directly concerned with the outburst in the orb of day.

The arrangements left much to be desired, and in consequence of Mr Armstrong having far too much work as Clerk of the Scales, the waits between the events made the meeting drag in the most tiresome fashion. As a rule there were large fields, and the racing was good on the whole. An undesirable element of absurdity was introduced in the race for the Ladies' Purse, and it is a pity ladies should have lent themselves to such a Mr Landale's Orchid...... ridiculous affair. RUMOURED TROUBLES ON THE N. W.

Bombay, 16th March A correspond. ent wiring from Boopji, Kashmir, says that some few weeks ago, the Chilares wrote an incolent letter to the British Agent at Gilgit. Colonel Durand replied recently expressing regret at the delay and explaining that at the time their message was received, he was engaged with the peopla of Hunga. However, that matter having been settled, he was now at liberty to attend to them, and would be glad to hear further from them. This seems to have excited the Chilages, who are reported by trustworthy agents as gathering in large numbers with the avowed intention of raiding on Boonit and Gligit, but it is generally believed that on this, as on former occasions, they will not do more than bluster. Colonel Darand proceeds on tour through Hunza and Nagar and leaves Gilgit for India about 15th April. The foundation atons of the Boonji bridge over the Indus was laid on lat March.

would drown every other sound, and draw our eyes to the spot, where clouds of vapour or jets of shining lava would rice into the air, with shrill whistlings and sullen bollowings, like the most appalling thunder. - San Prancisco Chronide. WHY HE NEVER LOOKED BEHIND

After this I never looked behind me. This is a very common expression. What do people mean by it? Lot's wife looked behind her and was changed into a pillar of salt. A lecometive driver in America looked belind him one day last summer and so didn't see an open drawlridge in front of him. Hence a wreck and great loss of life. A man in London failed to look behind him and was run down by a hansom. What shall we do as a rule! Look behind us or We introduce a man who says he never looked behind him after a certain time. How are we to take his meaning? Why, by letting him He goes on to say that in one day February, 1890, he was suddenly seized with dizziness and pain in his head. Like all healthy people, under similar circumstances, he didn't know what to make of it. He says he felt strange and queer, he shivered as though the weather had suddenly turned cold, and then flushed with the heat as though it had turned hot again. What alled him? His doctor said he was attacked with influenza, and ordered him to bed. He went to bed. A few days later the lever left him, but the illness did not. It merely assumed another form. His tongue looked like a piece of brown leather, and his skin and the whites of his eyes became Jellow, like old parchment. We must all eat to live, but when this man tried to eat, the food went against him, and after he had swallowed it by main force, it caused such pain in the chest, side, and stomach that he wished he had let it to be sent on board; they must be left at sione. Then his heart began to palpitate, and he says he felt low, languid, and tired. He had what he calls a sinking feeling at the pit of the stomach and a craving which nothing satisfied.

Being unable to take any but liquid food he grew so weak that he was barely able to walk. Then his heart troubled him once more, and, to quote his own words, ' As I sat in my chair ! could hear my heart thumping as if somebody was pounding me on the back.

This showed that the heart had too much work on hand and was struggling under it like a horse trying to carry two mon. I got very little sleep at night, he says, and would lie awake for hours tossing about on the bed. This sort of thing is very wearing, and we are not surprised to learn that he lost flesh until little was left of him but skin and bone. My cheeks, he says, sank in until they wore almost drawn together, and people shook their heads and predicted that my time in this world was nearly up. Still I had all confidence in my physician and kept on taking his medicine. From first to last I took some forty or fifty hottles of it (of all kinds) without benefit. · Finally one day the the doctor sounded my lungs and asked me if any of our family died of consumption. He said that the heart palpitation was caused by dyspepsia. Then he said I had better take further advice; he could do no more for me. This was after nine months of his treatment. I gave up all hopes of getting better, and, indeed, no one expected me to. It was now winter again, December, 1890.

One day I found a little book or pamphlet in the house, that I had never seen before. It was about a medicine called Mother Seigel's Syrup, and described a case like mine having been cured by it. Without going into all my hopes and fears on the point, it is enough to say that I got a bottle from Mr Kirkman, Chemist, Ellerby Lane. / I took the contents of that bottle and cortainly felt a little better. I took a second and began to cat solid food, which agreed with After this I never looked behind me, though my recovery was a work of time, for I was very much reduced. I stuck to the medicine, and with good reason, and at last got back to my work, strong and well, and have remained so ever since. When I went back to the works the foreman and other sgathered round me and asked what had wrought the wonderful change. I answered, Mother Saigel's Syrup had wrought it. When I said I wished to start work they told me I must first be examined by a doctor. The doctor said I was the for work and I went to war! the next morning and have never lost a minut

'I wish others to know what Seigel's Syru has done for me, and I give the proprietors per mission to publish this brief account of my case I am a cloth presser by trade and have works at Messrs Hepworth & Sons, Clay Pit Lane, for four years. HARVEY ASKEW, 2, Back Timber

Place, Ellerby Lane, Leeds,
The dector was right in saying that the apparent heart trouble in Mr Askew's case arose from dyspepsia, for dyspepsia was his only ailment And if he had used Mother Seigel's Syrup in February, 1890, he would have had no tale tell, for he would have been all right directly As it is we are glad that after he did try it he had no relapse. He never looked behind him.
